PROMPT

PURPOSE
Specifies that after the execution of a command is completed, a prompt character will appear as an indication to the analyst to enter another command.

DESCRIPTION
Some operating systems may print a system prompt after a DATAPLOT command completes. In this case, it may be convenient to turn off the DATAPLOT prompt. Otherwise, it is normal to leave the DATAPLOT prompt on.

SYNTAX
PROMPT <ON or OFF>

where ON specifies that the prompt will appear after subsequent commands while OFF specifies that it will not.

EXAMPLES
PROMPT ON PROMPT OFF
PROMPT

NOTE
The PROMPT command with no arguments is equivalent to PROMPT ON.

DEFAULT
At sign-on, the default is a prompt (i.e., ON).

SYNONYMS
None

RELATED COMMANDS
ECHO	=	Allows or suppresses command echoing.
FEEDBACK	=	Allows or suppresses feedback messages.
PRINTING	=	Allows or suppresses analysis output.

APPLICATIONS
Interactive convenience

IMPLEMENTATION DATE
Pre-1987